THE CLASS OF 1960

GROSSE POINTE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL

THEME

It is the fondest hope of the graduating class of 1960 that the lessons they have learned and taught will not go as a forgotten legacy to the classes which follow in the years to come. Each year a pattern develops which is designed to lead to a goal. This year the goal was devoted to promoting school spirit. The first and most important task was to unite the class, which was accomplished early in the year. Both classes worked together or separately to further the goals of the other. We then felt that this spirit could be broadened to include the activities of the entire student body. The success of the paper drive, the faculty-senior volleyball game, and the attendance at inter-school sports events contributed to the objective. The constant effort to arouse pride in the school and its activities, both inside and out, was important in achieving the aim. Each and every one of us hope that the movement which has begun will be conscientiously borne by the succeeding classes who, by taking pride in achievement, may look back with satisfaction on the most important years of their lives.

DEDICATIONS IN RECOGNITION

Blanche Richardson 1923-1960

Miss Richardson, you have our deepest admiration and most profound respect for your years of faithful service. You have been an example to all students and teachers who have known you. The guidance and advice you have given so untiringly and patiently has always been an inspiration. Your devotion created a pride and a spirit at Grosse Pointe Country Day School, and has continued at Grosse Pointe University School. This spirit has been instilled in, and will remain with your girls and boys. Words are inadequate to express our sincere gratitude for your understanding, patience, and dedication which you have given over the years to the young people of our community.

OF YEARS OF SERVICE

Beatrix C. Goubet 1922-1960

We of the Senior Class express our deepest appreciation and affection to you Mademoiselle through this dedication. Your enthusiasm, sincerity of purpose, and warmth of character will be long remembered by all. We regret to see you leave; the halls will seem strangely empty without your lively personality to fill them.

Bonne chance, chere Mademoiselle et nos meilleurs souhaits pour l'avenir.

HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1960—

It gives me great pleasure to pay tribute here to one of our finest classes. You have made a deep impression on the school, bringing new meaning to the role of senior, and raising our expectations of all subsequent senior classes. The key to your success, I believe, is found in your unity as a group, combined with your determination to be a positive force in and for the school. Your performance in every area has reflected your desire to do better what had been done well before.

Notable achievements in every phase of school life—in service to school and community, in dramatics and music, in academic and athletic records—bear witness to your thoughtfulness, resolution, and dependable leadership.

You have conducted yourselves with a dignity and maturity which has won you the respect and admiration of both faculty and students.

We are, in short, proud of you and the record you have made, and grateful to you for setting such a fine example. We shall respect and honor you always.

The offerings of the Science Department differ from others in that, with the exception of the eighth grade General Science, the program is entirely elective. In any academic year between 60 and 70 percent of the student body is studying Science, and all students will have fulfilled their specific requirements by graduation with many taking the full course offering.

Contrary to the popular impression, the upgrading of high school Science was pre-sputnik, with acceleration taking place since that event. The tremendous advances in fundamental concepts and scientific applications during the past twenty years has presented a pedalogical problem. The trend toward amalgamation of the Science branches as exemplified by college courses in bio-physics, bio-chemistry, and astro-physics is beginning to trickle down to the high school level of instruction. The recent adoption of the PSSC Physics course, along with the possibility of similar course revisions in Chemistry, Biology, and Earth Science, keeps the department alert for further changes in course content and method.

This History Department offers an introduction to the further study of some of the factors—geography, the great ideas, human character—that have influenced western civilization, and the factual evidence that there has been a connection between these factors and the individual and collective actions of men. Stress is placed on the importance of a critical approach to the facts, and practice is given in analysis, logical thinking, and the presentation of the conclusions in well-written, correct language. To provide students with these tools of learning is, in general, the aim of the History Department.

In addition to our curriculum of history, current events, problems of democracy, and geography, we offer an Advanced Placement Course in American History. This course is a challenge to those seniors who have the intellectual curiosity; and the time and interest to pursue such an intensive program.

With the increasing belief that a truly liberal education is necessary today, mathematics has ceased to be a course for engineering or mathematics majors only. Above and beyond the required courses, there has been an increase in the number of students studying mathematics as an elective. Especially interesting is the fact that a major part of this increase has been girls. This year the Mathematics Department has included a two-period per-week Solid Geometry Course for seniors in addition to their Trigonometry and Advanced Algebra, which now comprises the Senior Math Work. While it is necessary to adjust the high school program to include new principles and techniques, a change of curriculum is appearing on the Lower School level to lay a better groundwork for the more advanced studies.

Curriculum changes in English are seldom as "dramatic" as those in scientific fields; we can provide for children of the space age nothing as novel as "the new math" or "the new physics". The role of the instructor in English—teaching students to read, to write, and perhaps, to think—changes little from year to year.

What is noteworthy, then, is not an eye-catching revamping of "materials or methods", but something far more impressive, a change in student attitude. In some strange and remarkable way, most students have discovered in their progress, through the upper school that intellectual exercise can be exciting, that learning (at the risk of being "corny") can be fun. For the part they have played in bringing about this small-scale intellectual renaissance, the Class of 1960 has earned the respect and admiration of the English Department at GPUS.

Language is to be used and understood; it is not to be studied merely as a grammatical exercise. In pursuit of such understanding and usage, the Language Department has this year introduced a new language—Russian. Why Russian? First, there has been a renewed interest in the Slavic peoples, in their culture, their philosophies, their literature, and their language. Second, such a course lends itself to the correlation between the Departments. It is conceivable that a student could be reading a Russian novel in English, an essay in the original, and be studying the history of the period at the same time. Third, the students are interested in the mastery of more than one language, and we wish to offer as wide a choice as is feasible.

The Language Department is always interested in new methods of study and presentation. Presently, the possibility of a language laboratory is being studied. A different form of presentation is being offered in Latin—an Advanced Placement Course in Vergil. This course is open to those students who are recommended by the department.

The aims of the Arts Department are, in short, to satisfy a student's need of creation, achievement, and aesthetic enjoyment and to develop, at least, an appreciation skill in handling the different arts media and the tools involved. Subdividing the program, the Arts Department includes Drama, Music, Sewing, Art, the Shop, and the Library. As was noted in some of the other departments, there has been an increased interest in the arts, which is almost purely elective. The band, a relatively new organization in the school, already has a hard core of seniors who have contributed greatly to its success. The Mechanical Arts Department has at one time or another taught almost every senior boy and several senior girls on the average of two years per person. This year's Winter Show was a tremendous success due to the faithful and voluminous amount of work which was given mainly by the senior class and the stagecraft class, reorganized this semester after a three year lapse.

While the primary function of the Athletic Department is to develop physical fitness in all students, it is ever changing its program to meet these needs and the demands of Varsity sports. This year, the boys' department initiated a cross-country team, which ran in two meets. More athletic periods have been added to the day to give Varsity sports all available time on the existing facilities and not to subtract from the Physical Education Classes. The girls' department had tremendous success this year. An undefeated hockey varsity team was followed by a varsity basketball team which sustained only one defeat. This great achievement was sparked by one of the finest senior classes of girl athletes the school has ever had. With the addition of the new Ford Gymnasium, the G.P.U.S. Athletic Department has again increased its facilities to a level of which we can be proud.

Heated class arguments with the Democrats and Republicans on the filibuster . . . The combined class effort on "Teahouse of the August Moon" . . . Casual class parties . . . The snow. These are the things that will continue throughout the years to make vivid my year at G.P.U.S.

That which will be forever fresh in my memory is the warmth, generosity, and friendliness of all teachers, parents, and students. I would like to express my deep gratitude especially to Mr. Chandler, Miss Richardson, my teachers, and my classmates who have helped to make my adjustment and stay a memorable experience.

With a few words I want to express my deep and sincere gratitude for the friendly welcome I have had here at GPUS through Mr. Chandler, Mr. Grimes, the faculty, and the students. All of you helped to make this year one of the most fruitful in my life.

"I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch where through
Gleams that untraveled world whose margin fades
Forever and forever when I move."

For the eighth consecutive year G.P.U.S. has had an exchange student or students. Last summer Dick Baron went to Portugal as a representative from G.P.U.S. on The American Field Service. This year the school was pleased to welcome Bernd Gaus and Cathy Tan as exchange students on the same program. We feel that we have profited greatly from this experience and have gained a deeper insight into the customs and traditions of others. We learned that although some people come from different backgrounds, they are basically the same. Bernie and Cathy have been an integral part of the school from the first day they came. We have enjoyed having them here and will be sorry to see them leave, but we hope that our friendships will not end, and that some day we shall see them again.

CLASS MESSAGE

We of the Senior Class would like to express our deep feelings of gratitude and appreciation to the administration and faculty for their understanding, patience, and guidance. Any institution is only as good as its component parts; you have done more than your share, and we sincerely hope that we have done ours.

Perhaps, to us, the most important thing this year has been unity, for without a united class, a united school will never exist. We have endeavored through all possible means to unite both sections of our class, cement faculty-student relations, and create a more closely-knit student body. It is our earnest desire that the succeeding classes will follow through and improve the amalgamation of the two schools to an even greater degree.

Our many years here can never be completely forgotten, and G.P.U.S. will remain as a fond memory. It is with a pang of nostalgia that we leave, yet G.P.U.S. has prepared us for the challenge that lies ahead, and we are grateful.

The goal of this year's Periscope staff was to create a larger and more organized paper to be published at more frequent intervals during the school year. The staff, which consisted of David Ireland, Editor-in-Chief; Carol Nyman, Editorial Editor; Betty Carpenter, Feature Editor; Bruce Birgbauer and Helen Jinks, Sports Editors; Noel Savignac, Lower School Editor; and John Evans and Bob Love photographers, wishes to thank Mr. Conley, their faculty advisor, and the loyal staff of reporters without which the paper could not have succeeded. This year's Periscope staff sincerely hopes that it has achieved the goal for which it strived.

The PERISCOPE

GROSSE POINTE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL VOLUME 2, NUMBER 4

"TEAHOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON"

This years production of "The Teahouse of the August Moon" was a tremendous success. One outstanding reason was that it represented the cooperative efforts of many students.

The professional air of this production from the geisha dance and wrestling match to the attractive program was terrific, and many people commented on the show's compactness and snappy tempo. Jeff Miro, as Sakini, was outstanding. He never broke from character and carried through the few crises with professional skill. The villagers were quite realistic and added much to the mood.

As with any play of this nature, there were the "unsung heroes," those who worked hard behind the scenes, but received no credit. Midge Stockard aided by Helen Jinks and Connie Wendin, did a tremendous job on the costumes for the play. Mrs. Fleming was responsible for the kimonos and for sewing together the teahouse roof. Mr. Beeler also helped in building the teahouse. Finally, Carolyn Nyman and Mr. Vaillancourt were responsible for painting much of the backdrop.

IN A HURRY

....Sally Leisen

Every once in a while, one hears his parents, grandparents, and other adults speaking of the "good old days." However, how could a world devoid of mechanical devices, electric lights, cars, and telephones, have been better than the world of today? One of the answers to this question might be the unhurriedness of the earlier decades.

Today everything is governed by time. Television programs are always advertising "Instant Mashed Potatoes," or the more familiar "Gleam, for people who can't brush after eating." If we are a few minutes late we miss the bus; we cause everything in the dentist's office to be thrown into a turmoil. Nowadays we are rushed and hurried in almost everything we do; the world is a big clock and the people are seconds trying to keep pace with inventions--the minutes!

Americans are people who always like to be doing something. Unfortunately, we do too much, and never "seem to have time" to write letters, visit a sick uncle, or even eat a good meal. It is more unfortunate, however that the things we do are watch television and play with the dog. If we learned to budget our time more carefully, putting first things first, ahead of the unnecessary, and perhaps more enjoyable matters, we would have time to slow down.

PUPPET SHOW

Last week the Upper School dramatics class presented Cinderella, as a puppet show, for the Lower School. The puppets were operated by Terry Seyler, Irving Smokler, and Budd Lott. The program seemed to be much more entertaining for the Lower School than for the seventh and eighth grades, which saw it the day before.

RED CROSS DANCE

On February 9 the Red Cross gave the Upper School a dance after the Gilmour Academy Basketball game. It took place from 10 to 12 o'clock in the New Edsel Ford gym, which The Red Cross Council had very effectively decorated with masks and balloons. There was furniture from the lounges when the dancing got too strenuous. The Red Cross received $55 in admission fees which they will use to send Red Cross chests abroad.

PERISCRIPT

1st Row: Carol Nyman, Marc Shaye, Connie Wendin.
2nd Row: Julia Ferry, Olin Jennings, Budd Lott, Gladys Menge.
3rd Row: Wallace Roberts, Marilyn Davis, David Ireland.
Standing: Katherine Welcenbach-Advisor, Sarah Strother, Sue Sadler, Betty Carpenter, Judy Tipton, Irving Smokler.

The Periscript is published each year to stimulate and encourage literary and artistic self-expression at G.P.U.S.

This year the Periscript staff has decided to print the publication during the summer and distribute it in the fall instead of the spring. Copies will be mailed to those students who have graduated. The preparation of Periscript is done entirely in school, and the staff feels that with this new system they will have more time to produce a better publication.

This year's Periscript staff was directed by Wally Roberts and Julia Ferry as Co-Editors and was ably assisted by Mrs. Welcenbach.

The Co-Captains, Bruce Birgbauer and Dick Baron, were selected on the All-Tournament Team, with Dick Baron winning "The Most Outstanding Player Award" as well. This was the second consecutive year that G.P.U.S. has won the Maumee Tournament.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

2nd Row: Richard Eriksen—Coach, David Hughes, John Golanty, Wendell Goddard, Brooke Harrington, Bayard Blessing, Dan Johnson, Paul Sheridan, John Hoag.

Although the Junior Varsity had a losing season, they feel they have gained valuable experience that will help the Varsity in the next two years. After losing their first ten games they came back to win two of the last three. These last three games showed the potential apparent all season in all of the boys. Particularly evident was the improvement in floor play and shooting. Outstanding progress was made by Paul Sheridan, Bill Stockard, Brooke Harrington, Don Johnson, and John Mozena.

Grosse Pointe University School is proud of the performance of the finest girls' basketball team that has ever represented our school. Through the sharp-shooting and accuracy of Gay Bacon, supported by outstanding team play from Sally Lewis, Jean Templeton, and Martha Howbert and the fine defense play of Martha and Gladys Menge, Sarah Strother, Sue Daume, and Sally Fisher, the team finished with a 6-1 season. Our congratulations for a job well done to the team and their coach, Miss Brock.

What is Value in an automobile?

It's what YOU want...and get...in the Ford Family of Fine Cars

Quiz a dozen people about value in an automobile and you're likely to get a dozen different answers. Value is a personal measure. Like beauty, it's entirely "in the eyes of the beholder."

Value is styling—to some. A look of distinction. Pleasing proportions. The tasteful use of chrome. Styling as you'll find it in the 1960 Ford, Falcon, Mercury, Lincoln and Lincoln Continental.

Value is performance. A smooth ride. Ease of handling with the accent on mechanical controls. Minimum maintenance over the miles and years. The kind of performance Ford Motor Company cars have made famous.

Value is economy. Efficiency that wrings top mileage out of every drop of fuel. Dependable, thrifty operation from hard-working parts. Savings such as you've come to expect even from the mightiest of Ford Motor Company V-8 engines.

Value, of course, is much more, too. Extra comfort. Added convenience. High trade-in allowance. All these are "dividends" enjoyed by owners of our products.

What is value in an automobile? It's what you want—and get—in the Ford Family of Fine Cars.

LIVE HAPPILY EVER AFTER— ELECTRICALLY

Are you coming back for more education? Getting a job? Establishing a home? What's all this got to do with electricity? Just this: Whatever the future brings you, electricity will be there to help.

For right now we are entering a whole new era of electric living. The home you start will be easier to take care of, more fun to live in, with help from electric appliances. Complete electric home heating, practical and convenient, is growing every day. Your job will be smoother, too, with electrically operated equipment and an increasing array of electronic devices. Even your education benefits from continuing research in many fields related to electricity. One day, you personally may help to create new and better ways to do things electrically.

So no matter who you are, where you are or what you're doing, your future will continue to be brighter, your life will be lighter through electricity.
